

Would you like to submit a proposal to speak at the 2018 National Play & Playwork Conference in Australia?

We are looking for proposals for Presentations and Practical Workshops (around 75 mins in length) and academic papers (of about 20 mins) to take place at our conference on Friday 9th and Saturday 10th March 2018 at Bond University in Gold Coast, Queensland, Australia.

The theme for the conference is ‘Go Hard – Go Playwork’

The theme is about how we enable more play, playing, playfulness and Playwork wherever children and young people happen to be – indoors, outside, institutional setting, home ... everywhere, no matter what age they are.

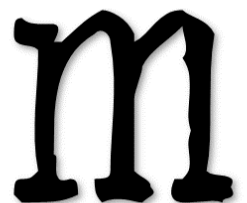

It’s about how we support that rich, deep independently chosen and directed style of playing that Playwork practice is all about. It’s about supporting people to take the next step ... to actually begin working in a Playworking style.

We would like to see proposals about the link between play and health, involvement, freedom and making choices, learning, relaxing, daring and risking, exploring, creating, the past and the present, making connections, building, breaking, thinking, imagining, pretending, doing and much, much more. Do you fit the bill?

Would you like to join us?
